

Lil MaMa

The Couch Potato

Age: 1 Year

Sex: Female

Weight: 50 lbs

Breed: Pit-Lab Mix

PERSONALITY

The Confident Dog

A Confident Dog is comfortable in his surroundings and is a natural born leader. He can easily take charge of a situation and is also likely to be a team player. His confident manner will show in his body language.

Contrary to popular belief, dominance is not a personality type but a term to describe the hierarchy between animals. A natural leader only needs the confidence and ability to lead his pack, he doesn't need to resort to aggressiveness to maintain his alpha status. Dogs have been a different species from wolves for thousands of years, and trying to use a wolf pack mentality on your dog could actually backfire and cause him to mistrust you. Positive reinforcement is always the best way to train a dog, even a Confident Dog with dominant behaviors.

HEALTH & GROOMING

Lil Mama requires very little grooming but weekly baths due to inheriting dry skin which can become irritated by certain weather. Keeping her well groomed and clean will decrease the chances of her itching and skin becoming irritated as well as maintaining monthly preventive medicine for fleas/ticks. She is up to date on vaccinations and only requires annual rabies or boosters to be performed by your veterinarian. Slightly overweight after being spayed Lil Mama can be given a vet prescribed weight management meal plan if the vet feels it may be better for her long term health.

ABOUT THE OWNER

Born along with her littermates into the rescue world Lil Mama has only known our friends, family and volunteers and needs to find her furever home. Independent Lil mama loves to play primarily at night while she prefers to sleep during the day. Food driven this sweetheart of a girl loves to be the center of your world and cuddle as often as possible.